Founder / Director

Steve
Jones

With a background in music, a formal qualification in Graphic Design and a creative career spanning 20+ years, Steve's vast experience informs his vision for New Noise.

He employs technical and creative expertise gained from various freelance roles and production-based work, with an expansive toolkit that includes creative direction, graphic and multimedia design, website development, sound recording and sound design.

In a production role, he served as the festival manager for the DUT Digifest 2017/2018, Durban X Fest 2015 - 2018, the International Bow Music Conference 2016 - 2018, and The Uprising Festival 2000 - 2008. He also worked for UKZN's Centre for Creative Arts as a project coordinator from 2011 - 2015.

Audio Technician

Damien
Roodt

Damien completed a Bachelor of Music degree in 2021. During his studies he co-founded 2 events companies, Darker Dimensions and Roots Up Entertainment, focussed on building the local music scene and providing a platform for local artists to launch their careers.

He worked as the head sound engineer for the Rainbow Jazz Club and Restaurant, a prestigious jazz venue in South Africa. Majoring in Composition & Arranging and Electro-Acoustic Music (or Studio) prepared him very well for work in the film industry. He has worked as an audio editor, mixing engineer, and field recordist since 2021 and partnered with a number of well-known brands. He has also composed for film, as well as worked on a jingles for various TikTok campaigns.
